Comments:

Dear Examiner Harris:

In accordance with your suggestion, the following is a brief written re-cap of our telephone conversation of May 10, 2004.

I called to question the Office Communication mailed April 27, 2004. In the earlier Office Action dated October 3, 2003, the claims had been rejected under both 112, paragraph 2, and 103.

In response to the rejection under 112, paragraph 2, the claims were re-written in an effort to make them easier to understand. In response to the rejection under 103, the new claims recited a touch panel input feature which, in combination with the other recited elements, helps to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the cited references.

Such an amendment should be considered fully responsive to the Office Action.
